 FALLING ACTION
What Happens Next

After the climax, the story begins to slow down. This part is called the falling action. Readers learn what happens because of the hero's actions during the climax. Problems begin to be solved, characters react to what happened, and loose ends are tied together.

The villain may be captured, the stolen item returned, or the final clues explained. This section helps readers understand how the mystery was solved and ties together any unanswered questions. It also shows how the agent's actions affected the people around them.

ASK YOURSELF...

- What happens after the villain is stopped?
- How are the remaining clues explained?

DIALOGUE IDEAS

The prophecy has begun.

The dragon isn't our enemy!

The forest has a secret...

We don't have much time!

Magic is fading from the realm...

Something ancient...is awake...

The kingdom is counting on us.

I think we're being watched...

We begin the quest!

STORY STARTERS

The old mansion had been empty for years, until tonight...	Something scratched on the attic door...	The jack-o'-lantern suddenly blinked...
Nobody was supposed to enter the cemetery after dark...	A mysterious note appeared on the doorstep...	The ghost whispered only three words...
The portrait's eyes seemed to follow every movement...	A hidden staircase appeared behind the bookshelf...	The town's Halloween decorations had come alive...
