TEACHING IDEAS

Discuss with your students what jewels are often found on crowns, and what they are made of. Crowns were not always as ornate as they are now, but encourage your students to use their imaginations when they are decorating their crowns.

The crowns can be printed on heavy card stock so that they may be decorated using glue and found objects or glitter etc.

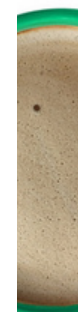

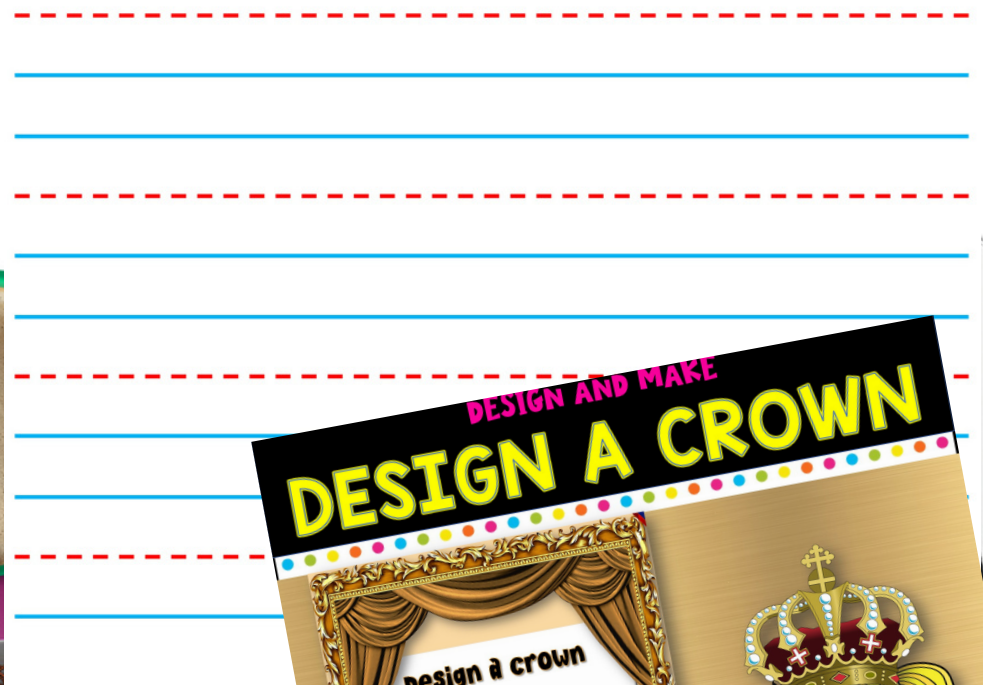

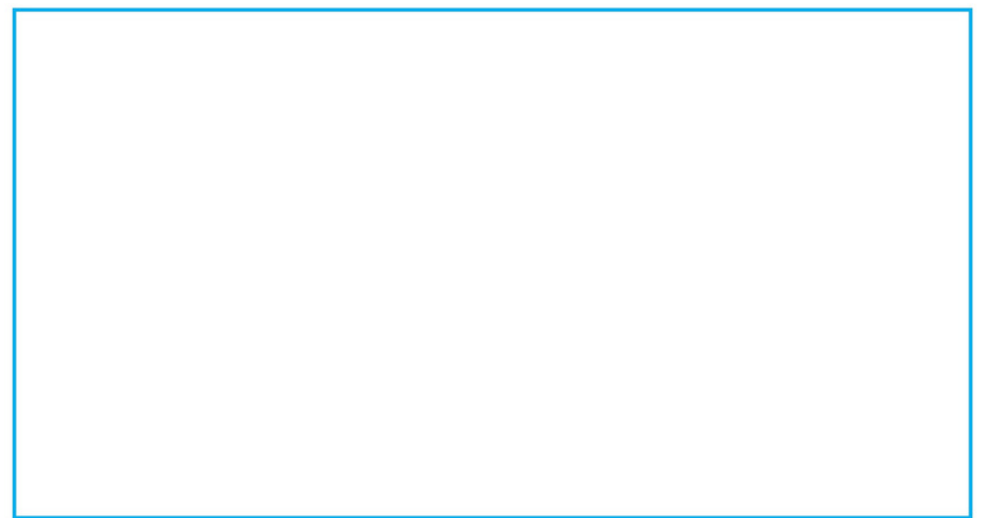

I recommend using the band supplied so that the students can adjust them to fit their head size.

Once crowns are completed, you could have a 'fashion show' of all crowns to students get the chance to show off their creativity.

WRITING TASK

- If your students were King or Queen of a country what would be some things that they would change or make as new rules for their citizens.
- As students to write a description of their crowns, perhaps as a recount or procedural text.

If I were the King or Queen I would...
