

THE SPANISH-SPEAKING WORLD

Things to know about Escape Games

These are challenging activities that your students will enjoy, once they understand the concept. The first breakout will always be the most difficult. This is not meant to be a simple activity with easy questions like "when was the Alhambra built?" That could easily be done as an online scavenger hunt, no need to do an escape game.

The answers are on the image subsequent one

The fun of the game is more than others (for happened on a page, watch or number into a different lock)

It is entirely possible, how a group is really strong. If you know that 3 of the 5) in or thinking about the students will need

Please let me know

Argentina

On the Argentina slide, clicking on the window will lead to a page with the history of the tango. Students are looking for the name of the instrument BANDONEON, which will open the 9-letter lock.

Peru has many Incan ruins, interesting largely because of the building methods used. Some of them remain undiscovered, hidden by the vegetation. Others were found years after abandonment, and though they are popular tourist destinations we still don't know their exact former purpose.

DIGITAL ESCAPE GAME

Detailed 9-page instruction guide
Link to escape website

Topics include:

- Peru
- Mexico
- Argentina
- Chile
- Costa Rica

Your grandmother is on a road trip through Central and South America with her new boyfriend. She sent you some sort of gift, but she has it locked up in a box with several locks. Can you use the clues to find the keys to unlock the locks?

