I've waited a thousand years for the first sip of pumpkin spice latte season.

The scarecrow, meant to scare off birds, ended up covered in crows.

I'm ready for a change; it's time to turn over a new leaf.

A scarlet sunset spread across the sky.

Autumn is a warm quilt, wrapping the world in comfort.

Amber leaves blanketed the ground, and the scent of pine filled the brisk air.

He raked the endless piles of leaves, feeling a bit like Sisyphus with his boulder.

The trees bowed gracefully as the wind swept through the valley.

The fire popped and crackled as we shared stories.
