STUDENTS WILL ACCESS THE GAME IN THEIR BROWSER – NO PREP FOR YOU, JUST SHARE THE URL!

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying the Digital Escape Games website. The page features a header with navigation links like Home, My Account, Checkout, TPT Store, and Contact. Below the header is a large banner titled "CATHEDRALS OF FRANCE" with a background of colorful stained glass patterns. Underneath the banner, there's a paragraph describing the game: "Your aunt was a historian for one of the cathedrals in France. She recently died and left you an inheritance – but what is it? In order to keep it safe, she's locked it in a treasure chest with five locks. Can you find the clues to open the locks and find out what's in the treasure chest?". To the left of the map, there's a login section titled "Cathedrals of France" with a link to sign in to Google and a note about required accounts. To the right, there's a map of France with various cities labeled, indicating the locations of the cathedrals.
