

Skincare

- Exfoliators: A single or individual dose of serum. (Note: Once you've reached the finish line.)
- Couperose
- Aromatherapy: The use of plant aromas for beauty and health treatment such as a massage or bath.
- Masks: A non-fanning lotion which is designed to cleanse, dry and soothe skin.
- Humectants
- Serum: The use of plant aromas for beauty and health treatment such as a massage or bath.
- Toner
- Blackheads
- Acne/Acne/Acne

Y'S TOOL

Able to destroy a fungus	This very common bacteria is short and rod-shaped. It can cause diseases like tetanus and tuberculosis	Spherical shaped bacteria that grow in partners and can cause diseases like pneumonia
Invasion and the death of cells such as bacteria, fungi and viruses in the body	A fungal infection of the scalp that has red spots at the opening	A chemical product that destroys all

[illegible]

COSMETOLOGY: HISTORICAL BEAUTY POSTER PROJECT

Wb

Scalp Care

Directions: Read the question and put it in the answer box below the question. Questions correct in a question set, the third question will disappear and you will move on to the next question set. Continue until all question sets have been completed.

Question Set 1

1. Shampoo that absorbs oils, grease, and dirt from the hair and scalp without the use of water.

2. Substance with glycerin, that either adds moisture or promotes retention of moisture.

Question Set 2

4. A hair product applied after shampooing to restore strength. Infuse...

5. Cleanliness requirement for scalp. what is the...

A purple spiral-bound notebook is shown at an angle. A black tab with a white letter 'F' is attached to the top. The word 'Endothermy' is written in black ink on the page. Below it, the text 'What is the third and final involves no...' is partially visible.

Haircutting Mystery Puzzle

Directions: View at 80% if the puzzle goes off your screen. Type the answer to each question in the yellow "Answer" column. If you answer correctly, the box will turn green. If you answer incorrectly, the box will turn red.

1. This one-length haircut has one hanging level with no elevation or over-direction.
2. This technique involves parting the clients hair in opposite directions from where you cut to check precision of the line or shape.
3. A type of point cutting where the point of the scissors are moved towards the hair end instead of into them creates a more natural effect.
4. Remove bulk and add movement by keeping your shears slightly open and only using the part of the blades near the point.
5. When you raise the hair to 90 degrees from the scalp and then cut it on the same length you get this type of layer.
6. Using one section of technique to remove bulk without length and adding movement to the style.

SURVIVING in Secondary