LINES & STANZAS

A line of poetry is

A stanza is

Example:

I am but a lonely little poetry line.

Now I have my friends in sight,
 Standing here to make things right.
 We are a stanza, strong and tall,
 Happy that we aren't single and small.

RHYME

The rhyme is

RHYME SCHEME

The rhyme scheme is

Example:

3, 2, 1 Blast off!
 As my rocket begins to soar
 I'm on Earth no more
 No gravity, no air
 floating with care
 I'm off to see what can be
 I want to

EXAMPLES FOUND IN THE WILD

RHYTHM

The rhythm is

The Old Oak Tree
 The wind pushes against my branches,
 shifting,
 swaying,
 creaking as the day turns to gray.
 I stand here,
 unmoving,
 watching the world change.

REPETITION

Repetition is

Example:

Oh homework, oh homework
 why are you so hard!
 You're pointless, you're useless
 I'd rather be playing in the yard.

EXAMPLES FOUND IN THE WILD

FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

Figurative language is

Alliteration is

LYRIC POEM

A lyric poem is

Example:

Morning Gold
 The sun creeps over the garden wall,
 Turning the dew into sparkling light.
 A quiet hum wakes up the world,
 As the shadows hide from the morning bright.

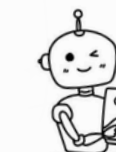

EXAMPLES FOUND IN THE WILD

FREE VERSE

A free verse poem is

Example:

The sun, a shy artist,
 paints golden hues across the sky,
 rays spilling like laughter,
 chasing the remnants of night.

EXAMPLES FOUND IN THE WILD

NARRATIVE POEM

A narrative poem

Example:

I tried to fly a kite today,
 It didn't go so well.
 I gave a run, I gave a jump,
 It wobbled in the morning breeze.
 I shouted at the sky,
 "Hey! Why won't you fly?"
 But instead of soaring like a bird,
 It kissed the ground—goodbye!
