Addition & Subtraction Week 1 Overview

Day 1 Rounding 4.2D Estimate by Rounding 4.4G	Day 2 Estimate by Rounding & using Compatible Numbers 4.4G	Day 3 Add & Subtract Whole Numbers 4.4A 4.10E	Day 4 Regrouping & Subtracting Across Zeros 4.4A	Day 5 Adding & Subtracting Decimals 4.4A
Today is set up to help you easily differentiate for students while teaching rounding.	This lesson looks at problems and has students use compatible numbers to estimate and then round to estimate. Then students examine which method gives the closest estimate for each problem.	Today's lesson connects addition and subtraction to the personal financial literacy TEKS in a meaningful way.	I seriously love today's lesson. Students get to act out regrouping for subtraction with money!	Today's lesson has several fun & engaging activities that will help students internalize the importance of adding decimal points and trailing zeros when necessary, lining them up, and then adding or subtracting.

Today's lesson connects calculating profit with continued practice adding and subtracting decimals. Students will work on multi-step problems. There is time built in today to catch-up on activities that weren't completed during days 1-5.	Today's lesson covers the properties of addition and how to solve estimating questions from the perspective of test prep.	The activity for today is all about real life! Students will go through 2 different scenarios of getting a paycheck and paying bills. They will also learn how to use a check register to track their checking account balance.	Use the task cards to review the concepts from the unit and to collect useful data on students who need targeted review. You can meet with reteach groups while other students are rotating through the review stations.	Students will complete their assessment today. When they are finished they should work on journal prompts that are not complete. Journal prompts are also an excellent assessment tool.
