| Deep beneath the bustling city, there was a hidden subterranean world. Alex had always been curious about the mysteries underground. One day, he discovered an old map tucked inside a book at the library. It showed a network of tunnels leading to a hidden treasure. Alex was eager to set off. He followed the map to an abandoned subway station. Alex reached for his flashlight and went inside. He found a rusted hatch marked with the word "Submarine". Inside, he discovered an old vessel. It looked like it had been there for decades! Next to the submarine was a control device with glowing buttons. A screen lit up and words flashed in front of Alex. "Subscribe for updates on your adventure," the message said. Curious, Alex pressed the button. Suddenly, the submarine started up with a loud roar. Alex boarded it, ready to uncover its secrets. |                                    |                          |           |

| The crowd gathered in excited whispers as the magician stepped onto the stage. All the spectators leaned forward, eager to see what was next. The magician, a tall figure in a flowing cape, adjusted his glittering spectacles and smiled mysteriously. "For my next trick," he said, his voice echoing through the tent, "I will make something truly spectacular appear." He pulled a small empty box onto the table. The audience watched closely, trying to inspect every corner of the box to figure out how the trick worked. With a wave of his hand and a snap of his fingers, the magician threw a red cloth over the box. When he pulled the cloth away, a flurry of colorful butterflies flew out, filling the air with their shimmering wings. The crowd gasped and clapped wildly, but no one could figure out how he'd done it. The magician just winked and bowed. |                                                |            |          |

READ THE PASSAGE

It was Science Fair Day, and Mia's "Spy Kit" was the star of the show. She had hidden patterns in light! Next, she showed her best invention, though, with faint sounds, like the hum of a distant star, demonstrating by pointing it toward a box of stars.

The judges found Mia's work impressive. "Science is like being a detective in the universe," she said proudly. By the end of the day, she had a shiny blue ribbon pinned to her display.

Deep beneath the bustling city there was a hidden (subterranean) world. Alex had always been curious about the mysteries underground. One day, he (discovered) an old map tucked inside a book at the library. It showed a network of tunnels leading to a hidden treasure. Alex was eager to set off.

He followed the map to an abandoned subway station (now) based on his flashings. Inside, he found a rusted hatch marked with the word "Submarine". Inside, he found a vessel. It looked like it had been there for decades.

Next to the submarine was a (control) device with glowing buttons. A screen flashed in front of Alex. "Subscribe for updates on your adventure," the screen said. Alex pressed the button. Suddenly, the submarine started up with a loud roar, ready to uncover its secrets.
