HOW TO USE

- Students can use these “Opposites Flashcards and Puzzles” in many different ways!
- Literacy Centers: Use this resource in small groups to learn and practice opposites. These can also be used as a supplementary resource to assist with opposites related activities.
- Go Fish: 5 cards can be dealt to each student. The remaining cards are placed face down in a pile in the middle of the group. Players may look at their cards but not reveal them to the others. Each player takes a turn asking another player if they have the match (opposite) to one of their cards. If yes, player 1 gets to keep the card and place the match beside them. If not, the second player will say “Go fish!” and the first player would have to draw a card from the pile. The player with the most matches at the end of the game, wins!

- Memory Games: Students can lay several pairs of opposites cards or puzzle pieces face down. Then they can take turns flipping over two cards at a time to try and find a matching pair.
- Sorting Games: Flashcard pairs can be sorted by “Opposites” vs. “Not Opposites”. You can also use a pair of opposites cards and place them both face up to create two sorting areas. Then use manipulatives related to those opposites for students to sort into the two piles. (Examples: sorting big vs. small buttons, sweet vs. salty food toys, black vs. white beads.
- Charades: Chose two students to each pick a matching opposites card. Those students will then act out their card and the rest of the group tries to guess which opposites pair they are.
- Find Your Match: Students each pick a card and walk around the room to find the student that has their matching opposite.

- Write the Room: Post flashcards around the room for the students to find. Once they find a card, they must write down its opposite. This game is completed when they have found and written a designated number of opposites pairs.
- Card Slap Game: Split each pair of opposites into two separate piles. Lay all of the flashcards from one pile face up in the middle of your students. Hold on to the other pile and place them face down. Pick a card from your pile and call it out for your students. Once called, students will compete against each other to slap the matching opposite. The first student to slap the correct card, gets a point. (Note: This game works best in pairs or small groups.)
- Coloring: Print out the black and white version of the flashcards or puzzle pieces set. Students can color and customize their unique set to use as extra practice in the classroom or at home with their families.
