The Tall Cliff
Ricky and Ava went hiking one weekend. They were excited to start the trek to the tall cliff. They wanted to see the famous waterfalls where the water rushed and swelled. It was a crisp, clear fall day and the air was still.
"Be careful you don't fall over," Ricky warned Ava as they passed a messy pile of sticks of grass. A small lizard darted across the path in front of them and a bee buzzed near Ava's ear.
"Oh wow!" Ava yelled happily. "the forest is active today!"
Ricky and Ava kept walking and came to a small footbridge. They crossed it to pass to the field on the other side. The grass was green and lush. They could smell lovely flowers blooming. They heard a strange sound. It was like a bell chiming.
"Look!" Ricky pointed to a tall tree. There was a nest with baby birds flying while the mother chirped. The baby birds were cute and fluffy.
They reached the waterfall and admired the water as it spilled over the mountain bluff.
"What a blissful day," Ava smiled. Her and Ricky enjoyed their trek from the forest to the cliff.

The Shipwreck
The shipwrecked crew was stranded on a desert island. The captain chanted a sea shanty to keep spirits up, and the crew joined in the singing. They had saved some broken dishes and torn dresses from the wreck. Some of the crew members were brushing sand from the pile of boxes that had washed ashore.
They worked together to build a makeshift shelter, helping each other to get it ready before the sun set. In the bushes nearby, some foxes darted around, getting ready to hunt at night.
One of the crew members climbed up a tree and was hanging a flag to signal for help. When it was nighttime, the sound of the waves smashing against the shore was like a lullaby, helping the crew relax as they drifted off to sleep. In the morning, the sun blasted heat and light. The crew were tempted to keep sleeping, but they knew they had a long day ahead of them.
