EXPLANATION & EXAMPLES

Ce, cet, cette and ces are used when you want to name a specific item. They can be translated as this/that/these/those.

As many other words in French, the form you use is determined by whether the item you are talking about is masculine, feminine, singular or plural.

Ce is used for masculine things.

Cette is used for feminine things.

Cet is used for masculine things that start with a vowel.

Ces is used for plural things.

Includes explanation and examples for students to read before beginning the questions.
