What do French people eat? Of course, the easy answer is French food! France is well-known for its cuisine and French chefs are some of the best on the planet. But many times, people do not have the time or the money to sit down for a five-course meal at a fancy restaurant. In those cases, there are many options. Some of these options are familiar restaurants that are found all over the world. But there are also some choices that are found only in France. Some are chain restaurants, while others are single locations. One thing is sure - you will never go hungry due to a lack of choices!

Some of the most common food places are American chains - McDonald's and Subway are found in many French cities and towns. You can also find KFC, Domino's and Pizza Hut. Chipotle and Burger King are just starting to be available in Paris and will likely become more common as the years go on.

There are also French chain restaurants - Quick is a popular burger chain similar to McDonald's. La Briocherie Dorée specializes in sandwiches and pastries. Speed Rabbit is a pizza chain, and there are many others. Speed Burger is a chain of restaurants that allow you to make your custom burger, then have it delivered or pick it up.

mon restaurant

Now that you know about French menus and restaurants, your task is to design a menu for your own restaurant. You will need to choose a name and a target market for your restaurant. Then, design a menu of items that is nicely arranged and logical. If your target market is teens who want to grab a quick bite to eat, you won't be selling 20 €

Here is a checklist to help

1. Restaurant must have
2. You must include 5 different items in each section. You could do 1 by type (appetizer, salad, etc.)
3. Menu must be entirely in French with, write a description for each item.
4. Menu must have reasonable prices (a pizza for 8 € and drinks for 2 € are reasonable).
5. Menu must be neat and easy to read.
6. Menu must have a "for" statement.

You can see some sample menus at <https://www.symboloo.com>
