TEACHER'S GUIDE

Land Mine

By clicking on the ring of the land mine, students will find a page where they are looking for the number number of trees planted (8)

Home page

When students open the home page, you will see a photo of the Vietnam War with some clickable links. The links are hidden, students will need to scroll their mouse around to find them. When the arrow turns to a hand, they'll know it's a link. The first one will be the most difficult, but once they've figured out how it works they won't have trouble. You can help them as needed or as time requires.

Each link goes to a page with a short bit of text and a photo. Clicking on the hidden links in the photo will take them to the information they need to unlock a lock. They will have to think and reason and use trial and error to figure out the codes.

Once all of the locks have been unlocked, they will see a short video about the Vietnam Memorial. If you are limited for time, or if students are frustrated by a lock, you can give them hints or the codes. Don't let them give up too quickly, it's a challenging but doable task!
